

Bideford and Northam Planning Application drawings (1894-1956).

Index produced by Peter Christie 2012, with permission of Torridge District Council.
Provided in online format by David Carter 2024.

What are these documents?:

Between 1894 and 1956, the Bideford Rural District Council, Bideford Borough Council, and Northam Urban District Council, considered Planning Applications for the development and alterations to buildings within their areas of control.

The drawings and other paperwork submitted for consideration were filed away when they were no longer needed, and only rediscovered in the early 21st century. Local Historian Peter Christie examined these and produced an index for each of the three collections belonging to the authorities.

These have now been amalgamated into a single index.

Accessing the Documents:

Ownership of these drawings resides with Torridge District Council, to whom the previous three authorities devolved, but they have kindly made them available for public research and study.

The drawings and documents to which this database refers, are now housed in the Bideford & District Community Archive, 1 Windmill Lane, Northam, EX39 1BY.

To access any of these documents, please contact the Community Archive for further information. A fee will be charged for providing paper copies.
